Even as a child, she cut out coloured paper, drew and created stories. She spent her childhood in a family of artists, where she sharpened her eye and stimulated her thirst for discovery. She became a doctor. She has three children. She creates CYZRCREA with Y. Romer and starts to create cartoons and visual art objects. She is passionate about creating books: book-games, book-objects, pop-up sculpture books, book-poems. She believes in the power of books to help people discover the world.

Claire Zucchini-Romer likes to help children learn while playing.

Imagine kiddies' fingers becoming little characters to animate! That's the idea of these books, designed like a dance floor!

These books - where play is the key word - develop motor skills and stimulate children's imagination.

Your little fingers are all excited. They caress, they prick, they rub... Your little fingers are sure to want to have fun!

In My House...

Chez moi...

By Claire Zucchelli-Romer

In my house, there's a dog, a cat, a butterfly – and even some hens!

Welcome to a house like no other...

A book-sculpture with ingenious die-cuts, where each page reveals a new animal while setting up a surprise for the next. Like a visual, rhythmic nursery rhyme, this book plays with shapes and transitions: the bottom of the house becomes a dog's mouth, its ear turns into a cat's ear, which in turn becomes the tail of a goldfish... and so on, in a playful graphic chain full of mischief.

Claire Zucchelli-Romer

As a child, Claire Zucchelli was already cutting colorful papers, drawing, and inventing stories. She grew up in a family of painters, sharpening her eye and feeding her curiosity. She founded Cyzrcréa with Y. Romer and began creating animated films and visual-art objects. She developed a passion for making books: play-books, book-objects, paper pop-up sculptures, poetic books.

- A house-shaped book hiding lots of animals: each page is die-cut to reveal the silhouette of the creature, and every part of one animal cleverly transforms into part of the next – the cat's pointy ear becomes the goldfish's tail...
- A book offering a rhythmic graphic sequence that turns this toddler title into a true sculpture, where all the house animals are connected to one another. A short, lively text accompanies the reading for an extra layer of playfulness.
- A book designed by Claire Zucchelli, author of the "Little Fingers" series and a specialist in baby motor development. She plays with space and invites little ones to touch shapes – all while keeping the experience wonderfully playful.

Oh, She Talks! When Women Come Out Of The Paintings

Oh, elle parle! Quand les femmes sortent des tableaux

By Claire Zucchelli-Romer • Illustrated by Nathalie Dargent

Van Gogh, Modigliani's Blue Eyes... Who are the models in these 12 famous paintings? Thanks to a game of face/profile cutting, these women speak in the first person.

At a time when women are daring to speak for themselves, to claim their place, especially in the artistic field, this realistic fictional documentary dares to take a singular approach by giving a voice to the models of 12 famous paintings. Thanks to the profile cut-outs created by Claire Zucchelli, a visual artist, the women models we contemplate in these paintings become those who look at us... and speak to the young reader. Based on extensive documentary research, children's author and art historian Nathalie Dargent uses her talented pen to paint 12 first-person portraits of these famous yet little-known women.

A beautiful animated book in a generous format

Cut-out on the front cover and 12 cut-outs inside.

Badou's Emotions

Les émotions de Badou

By Marion Billet

A book about emotions and colors, with felt flaps.

Badou the bear goes for a walk and experiences all kinds of emotions along the way. He's happy to see the bright sun but sad to have lost his lovey (hidden under the flap—phew!). At lunch, Badou is disgusted by a lettuce leaf, but luckily it hides an apple—yum, he loves it! Badou's scooter is broken, and he gets angry, but he calms down by the water...

On each double-page spread, a felt flap to lift—easy for little hands—to help understand Badou's emotion. The child becomes an active participant in the story.

This book features 7 emotions, each linked to a color, with 7 felt flaps to lift.

The Three Bears at Goldilocks

Les Trois Ours chez Boucle d'Or

By Sybille Delacroix

It's the Three Bears' turn to come to Goldilocks' house and make a mess! A beautiful picture book, and a funny, cheeky twist on a well-known fairytale.

Little Bear is very excited. He and his parents are going to Goldilocks' house. He can't wait to find out how humans live! The Three Bears explore the living room, kitchen, bedroom, and bathroom, touching and exploring everything as they go. Poor Goldilocks! The Three Bears make quite a mess! The illustrations speed up as the visit turns to chaos. The images begin slowly, and get faster and faster, until poor Goldilocks doesn't know where to turn. Despite running from one room to the next, she cannot stop the destruction, as illustrated in the zoomed-out view of inside the house.

Baby Bear is the one who discovers Goldilocks' house and makes a big mess

The Strange Journey of Eugénie

L' étrange voyage d'Eugénie

By Sibylle Delacroix

Have fun with your cards and join Eugénie on this train journey like no other!

Eugénie takes the train and discovers incredible landscapes through the window as she travels.

What makes this journey even more extraordinary is that it's the reader who builds it.

They choose and change the landscapes according to their imagination, using a set of 8 double-sided cards.

This interactive book stimulates creativity with a highly original concept. It features beautiful, detail-rich illustrations brought to life by the talented author and illustrator Sibylle Delacroix.

Xavier Deneux was born in 1969 in Calvados. After high school, he applied to ESAG (École supérieure d'art graphique) Penninghen and graduated in 1994. He is passionate about Eastern European graphic design and began to work on various books with his thesis supervisor, Roman Cieslewicz. He then gained a great deal of experience in advertising and packaging. His career took a turn in 2000 when he met the founder of Mila Éditions, and illustrated his first picture book, "L'École du cirque". From then on, Xavier Deneux began drawing for children full-time in various sectors, such as the press, publishing, games and cartoons. He started to create his own collections, driven by a desire to innovate. He lives in Paris.

- Georgette, an author-illustrator acclaimed by readers and parents: Hou Hou sold 3,500 copies in 6 months, with strong successes at Nathan and Didier Jeunesse.

'I am infinitely more alive when I am with children than with adults'

Handling the art of derision and burlesque, Édouard Manceau offers texts that know how to speak to children without tackling the problems of everyday life head on.

His books do not function as mirrors of everyday life. But they are very close to what children experience. But it's not dated. His books cross the ages.

Édouard Manceau was born in 1969 in Vendée, where he grew up in the countryside. At school, he preferred to play with his brothers, sisters, and cousins. He began to work with children when he was 16, and really enjoyed these interactions. He joined the Ecole des Beaux-Arts d'Angers at the age of 22 and graduated with a degree in visual communications. After travelling the world in the 1990s, he began to exhibit his work as a painter. Then he began to write stories for little ones and his first book was published in 1999. He has written more than one hundred children's books, often translated abroad.

Are You Out of Your Mind or What?

Ça va pas la tête ou quoi ?

By Édouard Manceau

This is a playful picture book. Give it two eyes, a nose and a mouth, and it'll conjure up a bevy of funny faces! Édouard Manceau's cheerful, inventive and mischievous new book.

A fun way to learn the names of everyday objects. On each double-page spread, the child discovers an object with a head, until the picture book's final flourish: a child's head appears and grimaces at the reader!

This picture book is an invitation to play and share a convivial moment of reading. It also pays tribute to children's boundless imagination and sense of humor.

The simple, rhythmic text plays on the comedy of repetition. Each time a new funny face appears, the narrator takes offense: "Are you out of your mind?", a recurring gimmick that keeps the little ones laughing more and more.

This is a new album by Édouard Manceau, father of "La poule qui roule en boule", whose adventures have sold over 20,000 copies in bookshops.

How Do You Get A Kiss?

Comment faire pour avoir un bisou ?

By Édouard Manceau

How do you get a kiss? You start by planting a kiss-seed... A story by Édouard Manceau, perfect for discovering the joy of stories.

To get a kiss, all you have to do is plant a kiss-seed and water it. It grows into a kiss-flower, which you then give to your mommy. Édouard Manceau offers here a very first story to read to little ones, starting at 9 months old. With his simple and poetic style – recognizable among all – this author-illustrator delights us with a tale that ends on a tender and mischievous note.

The Peas War Will Not Take Place

La guerre des petits pois n'aura pas lieu

By Édouard Manceau

A very wise picture book to learn how to deal with injustice, no matter how big or small.

Max and Lulu are the kings of peas! They have just picked a big pile of them. Tomorrow, they will sell them at the market and, with the money they earn, go on a big trip. But the next day, the big bad Stan comes along and eats all the peas. With the help of their friend Caroline, Max and Lulu decide to teach Stan a lesson. On the way, they bump into Dominique, who has just broken his shell while climbing and looks in bad shape.... So, the three friends forget about revenge and help him instead. After all, the war with Stan can wait, helping out a friend is way more important.

This picture book by Édouard Manceau is a sweet and happy story, full of empathy, that will make kids laugh and think.

The two budding gardeners have to put their desire for revenge to one side to find peace and joy.

A sweet and funny story

A lesson in wisdom
by bestselling author
Édouard Manceau

'For toddlers, I like to imagine the book as a cuddly toy that encourages them to play'

He is one of those artists for whom childhood is there, right at the edge of the eyes. His mischievousness is on his pupils as on those of his characters. Characters who are not afraid of the pull-tabs, the riddles, and even less afraid of appearing a little silly. With a black outline, he invents a thousand stories. With a single colour, he knows how to make them funny. With a simple animation, he brings out the laughter.

Tristan is one of those who you want to see grow up while hoping that they will always keep their childlike soul, which is simply genius.

Tristan Mory was born in 1981 in Clichy (Hauts-de-Seine). He studied mechanical engineering and then visual communications, but his dream was always to draw – which he had been doing from a young age – and to work with children. A fan of illustration and a children's book collector, he began his career as a graphic designer at Milan Presse: "J'apprends à lire", "Toboggan", "Toupie", "Histoires pour les petits". He gradually became a full-time freelance illustrator and published his first book with Actes Sud Junior, and then, his first picture books published by Milan. He loves pop-ups and enjoys exploring the mechanisms of interactive books, in a popular and timeless style that is constantly evolving. Tristan Mory lives and works in Toulouse.

Fil la chaussette

By Émilie Bélard, Agnès Cathala & illustrated by Tristan Mory

With "Fil la chaussette", illustrated by Tristan Mory, babies discover the pleasure of their first stories and shared reading.

Stories, imaginary books, cloth books...

"Babille" offers books for babies from birth.

Reading becomes a privileged moment of exchange and sharing between baby and adult.

The large format allows toddlers to physically immerse themselves in the reading experience.

The rhythm of the sentences, the repetitions, the surprising sounds...

The text is carefully crafted to allow the child to share a moment of complicity with the adult.

A story full of humor, illustrated by Tristan Mory, author-illustrator of "Cric crac, qui est là?".

Look! What is That?

C'est quoi, ça?

By Tristan Mory

Hey guys, come and have a look! What's this? It's small and chubby. It's got tiny ears and it's not even hairy... Too weird!

I'm small and chubby. I have no hair. And my ears are rikiki... Who am I?

That's the riddle posed by Tristan Mory in this new animated album with pull-tabs to activate. This time, it's not up to the little reader to answer. He knows full well that the adorable creature in front of his eyes is a baby! It looks just like him. But it's up to the surprise guests, the animals, to guess. As the pages turn, the little reader makes them appear in turn by pressing the pull-tabs. The mouse, the bear, the rabbit, the bird, the pig and the wolf... They all take turns trying to find the right answer.

Once again, Tristan Mory takes up the game of «Who am I?» and renews it with brio. All the ingredients that made his previous titles such a success are here: a simple, clever animation concept, an original graphic style and a tender, humorous message.

A playful and elegant design: a square format, a solid all-cardboard finish well-suited to toddlers from 10 months and many pull-tabs to operate.

Who Am I?

Qui suis-je?

By Tristan Mory

Who's hiding in this book? It's up to your child to find out by using the pull tabs!

Ribbit, ribbit! What's that jumping around the pond? Oink! What's all pink and plump? Find out by pulling on the tabs, and have fun while learning about the animals in the world!

A fun book to learn about animals! Each spread introduces an animal through riddle. The child only has to use the pull tabs to find out the answer!

Crack-Crack! Who Is That?

Cric crac, qui est là ? - Collector

By Tristan Mory

Here is the bestselling book in a collector's edition. A larger format, a shiny cover with a fluorescent Pantone for even more enjoyment!

In total, 5 baby animals are hiding in this surprise book, where the child is invited to pull the tabs to hatch the eggs and discover who's inside. Some visual clues are there to help: each egg is «dressed» in the colors of the animal hidden inside. And each one is shown in its natural habitat: the chicken coop for the chick, the icy tundra for the baby penguin, the ocean for the fry... As a twist, there's a big surprise at the end: a chocolate rabbit hidden inside a large Easter egg!

- A larger edition to enhance the joy of discovery, featuring sound animations. The cover visual is even brighter with the addition of a fluorescent touch.
- The animation mechanism, featuring handles to turn that make noise, is sturdy, fun, and easy to handle.
- An interactive album that satisfies all the little ones' desires: onomatopoeia for a rhythmic reading, visual clues to guide them along.

Guess What Happens!

Devine quoi!

By Tristan Mory

A new edition of "Devine quoi!", featuring a new cover.

In each sequence, a "Guess what?" riddle, in the form of a playful chant, engages the child. At first, they see an object: an apple, a flower, an umbrella... By pulling the tab, the object transforms, revealing what's hidden behind it—a squirrel, a frog, a bat, and more. This concept creates an element of surprise, sparking laughter and joy. Tristan Mory offers an interactive book centered around visual riddles that encourage the child's imagination and creativity as they explore. The simple graphic style and poetic object choices are perfectly suited for babies starting at 10 months. An original book for a tender and fun moment with the little ones!

- The first edition sold 20,000 copies.
- A pop-up book with a sturdy all-cardboard finish and two interactive mechanisms: the first, throughout the book, involves pulling the page, which unfolds horizontally to transform the image, and the second mechanism expands vertically.

On the agenda: 11 playful and quirky themed questions:

Children as young as 3 years old are invited to answer by pointing to the animal, creature, activity, or object that best represents them from a selection of 10 possible answers.

- The Chinese portrait game, beloved in preschool, is reimaged in this album. 11 themed questions are asked to children, helping them create their portraits by identifying with animals, objects, creatures, and emotions.
- This joyful and playful game book stimulates the imagination and encourages the creativity of little ones. Throughout the book, the child is invited to talk about themselves and make choices—skills that help build confidence and self-esteem.
- A family-friendly game book to enjoy together. Once the child has answered all the questions, they're invited to test it on their family and friends. This shared reading moment is sure to charm both young and old.

Elena Selena is a Paris-based Lithuanian illustrator whose poetic, finely crafted pop-up creations blend illustration with a unique sense of spatial design.

Her work, enriched by a background in scenography and hands-on workshops with children, offers publishers innovative paper-engineered storytelling with strong international appeal.

More than 75,000 books
sold!

Originally from Lithuania, Elena Selena moved to Paris to study at École Estienne after completing her first training at the Vilnius Academy of Arts. There, she discovered the world of pop-up books, which quickly became central to her artistic practice. She later graduated from ENSAD with a focus on scenography, giving her work a distinctive spatial sensitivity.

Now a freelance illustrator passionate about children's literature, she creates poetic, finely crafted books and leads hands-on pop-up workshops that inspire children to tell their own stories. Her unique blend of illustration and paper engineering makes her an outstanding creator for innovative, international children's publishing.

My Big Tactile Learning Book

Mon grand livre d'éveil tactile

Illustrated by Elena Selena

A new edition of a touch and feel book for the child to explore with their fingertips and palm of their hand.

A tactile exploration following the journey of an adorable little bee (stuffed toy). The child moves the stuffed toy through different landscapes (flowers, a meadow, a field, a pond) and textures. And at the end of the journey, the little bee frees some fish trapped in a net. A narrative and emotional thread that accompanies the child throughout the book.

I like It

J'aime bien

By Hervé Tullet

A notebook of inspiration and creativity for young and grown-up artists alike.

"I really enjoy looking for ideas. Maybe even more than finding them. With this book, I hope to share that joy with you: the joy of creation with a small 'c'." – Hervé Tullet

Each double-page spread in this notebook is an opportunity for the artist to share his creative process: "I like... doodling, ... playing with my pencils, ... observing."

A deep dive into Hervé Tullet's studio, where he finds inspiration everywhere his eyes land, encouraging readers to let go of their inhibitions and just begin.

A notebook of inspiration for young and old alike: an invitation to doodle in your own notebooks, to draw circles, squares, to get bored..

A true ode to creativity in a charming format, richly illustrated with photos from the artist's studio.

Richly illustrated with photos and created in partnership with the RMN (Reunion of the National Museums)

The Day and the Night

Le jour et la nuit - Mon livre tissu chevrolet

Illustrated by Marion Cocklico

Hello, day! Hello, night!

An interactive fabric book that folds and fastens into an easel—perfect for curious little explorers.

Here is a fabric book perfectly suited to baby's motor skills: it can be laid flat for seated or tummy-time reading, or set up as an easel for play while lying on the belly or side. Through six themed scenes (three daytime: the sun shining in the sky, a butterfly in a garden, caterpillars lined up behind a large felt flap; and three nighttime: under the ocean, a cat watching the moon, and a mother owl rocking her baby), baby is invited to touch, explore, lift, and chew.

Sturdy thanks to its thick foam, this easel book stands upright on its own and offers hours of play for little ones. It includes a starfish-shaped teething ring, a mirror hidden under a felt flap, materials to stroke, and flaps that make noise. The colorful, high-contrast, and elegant illustrations by Marion Cocklico are perfectly adapted to a baby's developing vision. A beautiful gift to offer from birth.

Surprises... at Easter!

Surprises... à Pâques !

Illustrated by Emiri Hayashi

A new collection of books that builds surprise page after page, thanks to die-cut effects.

A new collection built around the theme of surprise – a fundamental game for babies.

With its five colorful sequences, this small book takes us right into the Easter festivities. On every page turn, a surprise appears thanks to clever die-cuts. Each sequence begins with simple questions to help children guess what's hiding behind the cut-out, encouraging interaction and those first baby babbles.

- A new collection of sequential books that creates surprise page after page, thanks to clever die-cut effects. Reading becomes a playful, shared moment, with everyone guessing what the cut-out will reveal next.
- Joyful, colorful illustrations by Emiri Hayashi, a star of children's publishing – 200,000 copies sold per year across all publishers.

Chaminou The Big Tomcat

Chaminou le gros matou

By Louison Nielman • Illustrated by Alexandra Pichard

Chaminou is a big, fluffy cat. And who loves to grab his soft fur? Baby, with tiny curious fingers! A very first story to read to babies from birth.

A funny little chase begins as Baby tries to catch the cat, watching him closely and wanting to play. The hide-and-seek game is great fun—until Chaminou disappears from view. Luckily, Dad arrives to comfort and cuddle Baby.

This simple first story uses rhythm, repetition, and playful sounds to capture a baby's attention. Soft, high-contrast illustrations draw the eye, and the large format invites little ones to explore the book with their whole body. A warm parent-baby moment from birth onward.

Welcome, Baby!

Bienvenue mon bébé !

By Raphaële Glaux • Illustrated by Margaux Grappe

A lovely die-cut board book to celebrate the joyful arrival of a new baby into their parents' lives!

Today, Mom and Dad are two... but tomorrow they'll be three! Baby is here!

A sweet die-cut book to celebrate a baby's joyful arrival in the family. Each animal couple (elephants, whales, owls, etc.) turns the page and—surprise!—their baby appears. The book ends with a newborn human joining their parents.

With playful cutouts that reveal a hint of the next page, the book sparks curiosity and creates a delightful surprise effect.

A tender first picture book, brought to life by Margaux Grappe's charming illustrations and Raphaële Glaux's gentle, rhythmic text.

My Gentle Moments

Mes moments doux

By Kimiko & Marion Piffaretti

A first story to read to your little one from birth, for a moment of closeness and tenderness.

A simple, gentle text describing a baby's sensations: waking softly in Mama's arms, sipping warm milk from Papa, listening to birdsong, feeling a fresh towel after the bath, and receiving good-night kisses...

Written by Kimiko – a beloved author for the very young – and tenderly illustrated by Marion Piffaretti, this is a story to whisper to your baby.

The first title in the Bébéli collection, created especially for babies in collaboration with neuropsychologist Véronique Scart.

Time to Play

Les imagiers Babille - Je joue

Illustrated by Aurélie Abolivier

"Babille", the book collection for babies from birth. In the picture book "Je joue", little ones discover their first words around one of their favorite activities: playing!

Playing isn't just fun for babies—it's essential! Through play, they discover their bodies, connect with others, and explore their surroundings. The picture book "Je joue" dives into the fascinating world of babies and highlights their favorite games.

As the sixth title in the Babille collection, this sturdy board book invites parents and babies to read together, sharing a tender and meaningful moment.

- Grabbing, swinging, tasting, dancing... A baby's life is full of play! With this sturdy board book, little ones can put words to the actions they do every day while having fun.
- A must-have theme for this age group: play is a natural activity and a fundamental need for babies. It contributes to their healthy motor, sensory, intellectual, and emotional development.
- From solo play to shared fun, with or without objects, each page reveals a new way to play. This book is a tribute to babies' curiosity, agility, and creativity!

Inside Your Belly

Les récits Babille - Dans ton ventre

By Aurélie Sarrazin • Illustrated by Marie Leghima

This new album of the Babille collection, tells the story of a baby's daily life before birth and the parents eagerly preparing for the big day. A joyful and touching tale about prenatal life, perfect for reading together, snuggled up close.

In "Dans ton ventre", the baby shares its daily life inside the mother's womb—discovering sounds, hearing mom's heartbeat, dad's voice, and laughter. The first sensations come to life: wiggling, sucking, floating. Mom's belly is a cocoon, a home, and an incredible playground!

Throughout the album, we see the baby playing, growing, and thriving in this unique environment while forming a bond with their parents.

They, too, live to the rhythm of their baby and prepare for their arrival.

The story unfolds, shifting perspectives from inside to outside, leading up to the long-awaited birth—the start of a brand-new adventure for everyone!

- A second title by Aurélie Sarrazin in the Les récits Babille sub-collection: touching stories designed to create a special bond with baby.
- A poetic and delicate story about prenatal life. Told in the first person, the baby shares its in-utero adventure filled with sensations, discoveries, play, and interactions—all leading up to the big day of birth.
- Marie Leghima's delicate illustrations, sometimes figurative, sometimes abstract, beautifully capture these first tender moments between parents and baby, filled with excitement and anticipation.

The Fantastic Adventure of Boulapatte

La formidable aventure de Boulapatte

Illustrated by Laure Du Fay

An invitation to travel and explore for babies: Welcome to Boulapatte's poetic and colorful world!

Boulapatte is a funny little round creature, and he's looking for his friends! With the help of the young reader, he will follow the silver path from page to page and explore the colorful world that opens up before him. Up in the sky or under the sea, in the snow or in the sunshine, in the city or out in nature—there is so much to see! A first early-learning book, sturdily made to last over time.

- An album tested and approved in daycare settings with babies, designed to best support the learning and enjoyment of very young children.
- A story inspired by the principle of the "5 Cs": Creativity, Communication, Responsible Citizenship, Critical Thinking, and Cooperation—designed to foster children's reflection and self-confidence for a calm and confident start in life.

My Little Cats Stories

Mes histoires de chats

By Various Authors & Illustrators

A new collection of four-animal-story books about toddlers' everyday life.

After a first book about farm animals, this new collection invites toddlers to follow their favorite animal—the cat—through everyday scenes: getting ready in the morning, playing with friends, visiting grandparents... Familiar moments that help little readers recognize and understand their own emotions.

Four illustrators — Hélène Convert, Marion Billet, Coline Citron, and Coline Desclides — bring gentle, harmonious artwork perfectly suited for young children.

Made of sturdy board with rounded corners, the book is ideal for small hands and early independent reading.

Hooray for Life Without Diapers!

Vive la vie sans couche !

By Marie Perarnau • Illustrated by Marie Bretin

Hooray for Life Without Diapers! is a cheerful, confidence-boosting picture book about potty training.

Instead of a step-by-step story, the child narrator proudly announces from the start: 'Look at my little bottom... No diaper anymore!'

Each spread humorously contrasts the hassles of diapers with the freedom of going without – running, sliding, choosing a favorite underwear, swimming with ease...

Written by Marie Perarnau (Les Maternelles) with warmth and encouragement, and illustrated with lively, tender scenes by Marie Bretin, this book supports families through this big milestone with fun and positivity.

Take Shelter, Little Lion!

À l'abri, Petit Lion !

Illustrated by Amy Blay

A collection of large animated picture books that make funny sounds!

In this new title, we follow Little Lion as he searches for friends while the rain falls harder and harder – plip plop!

Introducing My Big Noisy Stories, a series of large animated picture books filled with funny sounds!

In this third title, we follow Little Lion, a curious cub who wants to play despite the first drops of rain. The savanna is quiet... until: 'Plip plop!' A drop lands on his head. Little Lion isn't scared – he looks for a friend to play hide-and-seek with, but the rain keeps getting heavier...

With pull-tabs and clever paper, cardboard, and Velcro mechanisms, toddlers can bring the story to life and trigger the sounds: 'Plip plop' rain, Little Lion running for shelter, and finally a gentle 'Purr...' as he cuddles with his mom.

Animated images, playful noises, simple funny stories, sturdy board-book construction, and Amy Blay's soft, colorful artwork make this new collection a guaranteed hit!

Are You There, Little Cat?

Es-tu là, petit chat ?

By Marion Cocklico

A tactile hide-and-seek book where little readers touch, explore, and search for the white, black, and grey kitten.

Where are you, little cat? Are you here... or there?'

This tactile baby book offers a sensory game of hide-and-seek with a kitten. On each spread, the child touches two furry textures—black, white, or grey—thinking they've found the cat... but it's never the right one!

Only on the final page does the kitten appear, ready to start the game again.

The child observes, compares, and guesses the hiding place, developing touch, reasoning, and anticipation.

Marion Cocklico's soft, expressive artwork creates a warm world perfect for little ones and their hide-and-seek fun.

Baby Power – All Equal from the Cradle

Baby Power – Tous égaux dès le berceau

By Soledad Bravi

Be fed up with pink... or blue, cry if you feel like it, dance or fight... Here's a funny, cheeky picture book in which babies speak out and rebel for gender equality in early childhood.

20 babies speak out and assert themselves against sexist stereotypes, at a time when 2/3 of women feel they have been raised differently. Soledad Bravi humorously denounces the sexist prejudices to which babies are subjected, and reminds us of their right to develop their full potential. A striking picture book that will make the little ones laugh and the grown-ups think!

This project is the result of a partnership between “Picoti” magazine and Crescendo (a network of early childhood and parenting associations) to produce and distribute a guide promoting gender equality from the cradle onwards.

Soledad Bravi, a versatile artist with a mischievous sense of line and humor, recognized for her talent. Highly appreciated by the public and professionals alike, she has over 153,000 followers on Instagram and her famous “Livre des bruits” has sold 200,000 copies.

Camera in hand, Tino the young elephant sets off on a safari report! Turn the page and—click!—the photo appears before your eyes, revealing an animal.

A first wildlife report with a real wow effect: like a polaroid, the pictures pop out of the illustrated camera, creating surprise and delight.

An original and interactive way to discover savanna animals.

As a bonus, the final spread offers a collage of extra photos featuring more savanna animals and some funny selfies of Tino and his friend Risou the squirrel!

- Just like a polaroid, the photos pop out of the illustrated camera, creating surprise and wonder. A small animated book with a unique concept!
- A new collection from the duo Laurence Jammes and Marc Clamens, essential author-illustrators.

Night-time Friends

Tout noir

By Raphaële Glaux • Illustrated by Marie Paruit

What a mess in the animals' homes—it's bedtime after all! A lift-the-flap book that shines a light on the whirlwind of activity at bedtime, which sometimes takes longer than expected...

Night has fallen. Everything is quiet. It's bedtime for all the animals. And yet... Lucette the squirrel doesn't have her pajamas, Léon the pig hasn't finished brushing his teeth, Lison the giraffe needs one last potty break, and Zoé the polar bear wants a bedtime story...

Clever flaps add an element of surprise: when the flap is closed, you see a house silhouetted in the calm darkness of night – open the flap to step inside, and the lights are on and it's a mess!

The third title in the Funny Little Stories collection with flaps, designed for 2–3-year-olds to play with darkness and bedtime routines.

Monsters All Over the House! An Interactive Book for Playing Scary Games

Des monstres plein la maison ! Un livre animé pour jouer à se faire peur

By Prisca Le Tandé

Monsters have invaded the house... Are you ready to bring them out of their hiding place?

A ghost in the attic trunk, a witch in the kitchen cupboard... thanks to a two-way manufacturing system, readers discover that the ghost is actually an old sheet and the witch is a shriveled broom!

A new and original manufacturing concept, with flaps that open in both directions: from left to right and from right to left. And a mirror at the end to reveal the most terrible of monsters: the little reader! Tender, funny illustrations by Prisca Le Tandé play down the fear of monsters hiding under the bed or behind the curtains.

Time to Eat, My Little Wolf!

À table, mon Petit Loup!

Illustrated by Charlotte Ameling

It's mealtime for Little Wolf! Rub his paws, grab his favorite spoon, gently stroke his cheek, and... time to eat, Little Wolf!

This touch-and-feel book with a pop-up invites little readers to help Little Wolf get ready for his meal, following all the familiar pre-meal rituals.

- A story that mirrors the endless mealtime rituals little ones often need before sitting down to eat. But this time, the roles are reversed—the reader takes charge, helping Little Wolf climb into his high chair!
- Reading becomes an interactive experience, as the child engages with the character—fastening his apron, stroking his ears, rubbing his paw pads...!
- A variety of touch-and-feel materials—fabric, fur, foil, soft-touch—and a delightful Little Wolf pop-up!

After

Après

By Sandra Le Guen • Illustrated by Annelore Parot

After the rain comes the mud, after the night comes a kiss, after the dandelions come seeds everywhere...

A gentle and joyful picture book celebrating the passage of time and life's little joys through a child's eyes

Designed in a landscape format, the vibrant and playful illustrations by Annelore Parot (Le jardin de Basilic) unfold across double-page spreads.

These seven before-and-after moments, like tiny stories, follow two children playing outdoors in nature.

- To reveal what comes next (the rain, the night, the dandelions...), the reader must turn the page. In that moment, time passes, and the transformation unfolds (the mud, the kiss, the seeds everywhere!)

Funny Jumble!

Drôle de bric à brac !

By Anne-Sophie Baumann, illustrated by Mylène Rigaudie

What are those 15 little beasts doing rummaging around the house? With their machines, they steal and transport a curious treasure, from the bedroom to the garden. Open the flaps, and you're ready for a site full of surprises!

An interactive book to search the house and grab the treasures hidden inside: open the toy box, pull up the basket to grab pencils, unfold the flap to load the candy trailer, pull up the garden hose...

30 different animations (flap, pop-up, pull-tab, etc.) and a large final pop-up that unfolds, revealing the incredible hut built by the animals in the garden, in the tradition of "Boîtes à surprises" (7,800 copies sold). As a bonus, each double-page spread includes a game of seek-and-find: can you find the 10 squirrels, the ferret, the mole, the snail and the 2 field mice who are busy playing in every room of the house?

Gaston's Deliveries

Les livraisons de Gaston

By Laurence Jammes and illustrated by Marc Clamens

Who wants fresh tomatoes? good cheese? sausages?
Let's go and deliver them to the shopkeepers!

A manipulative book in which the reader becomes the protagonist of the story.

The child manipulates 10 foods (crab, yoghurt, sugar, etc.) to deliver to shopkeepers as the pages turn, taking part in the story by going to the bakery, the fishmonger's, the cheese shop...

A well-thought-out object, with pieces tucked into the pages so they don't slip off.

This book is an ode to shopkeepers in the context of the local store revival.

Written and illustrated by Laurence Jammes & Marc Clamens, the duo behind "Ma toise en tissu", and "Mamans et leurs bébés".

Be Silly! – A Mirror Book for Exploring Emotions

Fais le clown! – Un livre-miroir pour exprimer ses émotions

Illustrated by Marion Piffaretti

A new, sturdier edition of an interactive book, featuring a mirror on every page to help children recognize, name, and understand the everyday emotions they experience.

Between 2 and a half and 4 years old, children experience a crucial phase where they begin to understand not just their emotions—which they already recognize, especially if they've been talked about—but also the physical expression of their emotions. They start identifying emotions on others' faces, developing empathy, and can then mimic those emotions on their own faces. It's like a clown's mime game, where they act out sadness, joy, lightness, and more.

This book offers children at this stage a series of emotions experienced by our little clown, which they need to recognize, helping them build their empathy skills. Then, they can play with their own emotions in front of the mirror, refining their ability to manage and understand their emotions. At the heart of this interactive reading: humor and self-deprecation!

- Surprise, joy, sadness, pride... a rich book that covers 10 key emotions, making it a valuable tool for introducing empathy to young children—a topic highly praised by educators.

In The Schoolyard

Dans la cour de l'école

By Christophe Loupy

In the schoolyard, we meet, we gather... What a laugh!

Girls and boys pass each other, gather, go round, line up. Throughout the pages, the reader finds all the aspects of the playground, by means of coloured circles symbolising the children.

With its simple graphics (a square schoolyard, characters represented by coloured circles), "Dans la cour de l'école" is an easy and fun book to read with your child.

The extremely graphic and richly interpreted images give this book the possibility of becoming a tool for awakening to shapes, colours and abstraction. The graphic approach also allows a more emotional reading of the issues at stake in school.

This is a new, more modern edition aimed at today's children for a timeless and educational picture book! The stereotypical pink and blue colours have been replaced by mixed colours to move away from gender-assigned representations.

A story that takes place in an important place in the school, where social relations are played out: the playground.

Illustrations all in abstraction for kids to engage with roles, shapes and colours in a playful and artistic manner

No-No is Very Ashamed

Non-Non a très honte

By Pauline Pinson • Illustrated by Magali Le Huche

A new No-No adventure! A funny and endearing hero, always surrounded by his gang of friends.

Written and illustrated by the renowned Magali Le Huche, No-No is an irresistibly charming platypus who faces (existential) crises in his daily life. Pauline Pinson

Pauline Pinson works as a director and screenwriter for animation. She is also an author in children's literature. Her albums feature a variety of quirky characters, such as a sheep experiencing an existential crisis, a bear desperately trying to take a nap, a rabbit having a conflicted relationship with a carrot, a fish with a butt-shaped head, and (in collaboration with Magali Le Huche) a platypus in underwear who asks a lot of questions!

Magali Le Huche

Magali Le Huche is a children's book author and illustrator, as well as a comic book artist. She graduated from the Strasbourg School of Decorative Arts and has been creating children's books for various publishers since then. She has worked on the "No-No" and "Jean-Michel the Caribou" series, both adapted into animated series, and she has been creating the musical book series PACO. She released Nowhere Girl with Dargaud, which won the Pépète BD Prize at Montreuil in 2021 and received a Special Mention at the Bologna Book Fair in 2021.

- This morning, he wakes up with a ridiculous cowlick on his head. There's no way he can go outside like this—Non-Non is far too embarrassed!
- A redesigned edition for readers: a new cover, an introduction to the characters at the beginning, a more readable layout with two fonts, and still the same fun flaps to lift and engage with the story!
- By the same duo behind Poisson-fesse (Les Fourmis Rouges, 9,900 copies sold), Magali Le Huche has also illustrated the Jean-Michel le caribou series (Actes Sud Junior, 84,000 copies sold) and the Paco series (Gallimard Jeunesse, 514,000 copies sold).

What's That For?

C'est quoi, ce pot?

By Alexandra Garibal • Illustrated by Claudia Bielinsky

What's that thing? A vase or a pool? A plate or a helmet? A boat or a sink? But no, come on, none of that, it's a pot! Quite simply!

It's a fun, imaginative story in which a whole gang of animals come up with the most varied uses for a pot. The last double-page spread reveals a delightful surprise: a flap with all the animals in ribambelle. Little readers will be delighted to find out, better than the book's characters, what this familiar object is used for.

A cardboard box in a deliberately smaller, more manageable format than previous books: "Do you want a kiss?" and "Who wants a hug?" by the winning duo Alexandra Garibal and Claudia Bielinsky.

With more than thirty titles to her name, her work blends humor and poetry, drawing inspiration from the everyday experiences of children. She is optimistic, sensitive, occasionally humorous, and subtly committed in her approach. Her books are published by Little Urban, Casterman, Sarbacane, Frimousse, Maison Eliza, and others.

Csil

Csil is an illustrator and graphic designer born in 1977. Her artistic world blends shapes and colors into a poetic, slightly offbeat universe where curious characters sometimes appear. At the Hyperspace studio in Reims, she experiments with drypoint engraving alongside Maud Gironnay. Le corbeau d'Épictète, published in the Philonimo collection, is her first book illustrated using this engraving technique.

Mixed-Up Farm

Méli-Mélo à la ferme

By Sandra Le Guen • Illustrated by Csil

Things get all mixed up on the farm: you can swap not only the text, but also the animals' heads, bodies, and feet in this hilarious mix-and-match book!

On the farm, there's a mischievous pig who fishes while singing songs, and a stylish quail who slips on socks while playing the trumpet. But readers are free to mix things up however they like: each page is divided into three sections—heads, bodies, and feet—allowing endless combinations that result in hilarious and unexpected characters.

Created by Sandra Le Guen and Csil, this interactive mix-and-match book will entertain both children and adults, starting from age three.

The Very Big Hug

Le très grand câlin

By Manon Fargetton • Illustrated by Guillaume Bianco

A comforting picture book on the universal theme of hugs.

Two children hug each other. Soon a third child joins them, then another, then two, five and ten more! The hug gets bigger and bigger, embraces everyone, until it becomes a big cuddle that flies away! How far will it go? To the next child who needs a hug... Could it be the reader of this book?

In this gentle picture book, Manon Fargetton shows the virtues of empathy and kindness, and that everyone has a right to cuddles.

A comforting story that echoes a universal need shared by young and old.

The Treasures' Collection

La collection de trésors

Illustrated by Hyun Kim • By Nathalie Dargent

Welcome to the magical, enchanting world of Daisy and Pobi! Straight out of a super-kawaii graphic universe, these inseparable friends are the heroines of a brand-new picture-book series.

Daisy finds a pretty heart-shaped stone in the garden and proudly shows it to her best friend, Pobi. A bit jealous, Pobi wishes she had one too. So the two friends head into the forest to hunt for treasures. Along the way, they meet Félix and his dog Pluche, who join the adventure.

At the end of the day, sitting in the grass with a lovely picnic, everyone admires the treasure they found. And maybe the greatest treasure of all... is being together on a beautiful summer afternoon.

A charming new world created by Nathalie Dargent and Hyun Kim, launching with two books and expanding next year.

Tom, Long-Awaited

Tom tant attendu

By Stéphanie Demasse-Pottier • Illustrated by Arnaud Nebbache

Excited and eager, a little boy tells the story of the last few days before the arrival of his little brother, Tom.

Tom, he can't wait to meet him! Drawing, reading, playing... nothing seems to shorten this endless wait. As the pages turn, impatience gives way to worry: "What will he be like?" "What if he doesn't want to play with me?"... Questions rush through his mind until the big day, when our little narrator finally holds the new arrival in his arms. Now, he's a big brother!

With simplicity and poetry, Stéphanie Demasse-Pottier explores the theme of welcoming a new child into the family and the transition from being an only child to becoming an older sibling. Questions, excitement, curiosity, worry, and enthusiasm... the little narrator shares his emotions before the long-awaited meeting.

This delicate and moving album, illustrated by Arnaud Nebbache, will guide little ones who are about to become older siblings through this significant milestone in their lives.

Stéphanie Demasse-Pottier

Stéphanie Demasse-Pottier is a youth librarian and author. She has published over thirty albums and novels. Some of her works include "Tant pis pour la pluie!" with Lucia Calfapietra, "Louise" with Magali Dulain, "Mon île" with Seng Soun Ratanavanh, "Les Sentiers perdus", "Le rêve de Gaëtan Talpa" with Adèle Verlinden, "C'est sûrement le bonheur", "Fin d'été" and "Deux pingouins".

Her books are often featured on prize lists, such as "Sans détour" (Unicef Prize 2024) or highly praised by institutions.

Arnaud Nebbache

Arnaud Nebbache was born in Normandy, where he completed part of his studies before continuing at the Institut Saint Luc in Brussels, Belgium. Since then, he has been illustrating albums and documentaries (often combining the two) while exploring hand-printing techniques, including engravings, stencils, and silkscreen printing. He regularly collaborates with authors and sometimes tries his hand at writing as well.

A Friend of Mine

J'ai un ami

By Manon Fargetton • Illustrated by Lili Wood

A gentle and poetic album centered around the concept of an imaginary friend, a theme that resonates. A book of great sensitivity, with beautiful illustrations.

Manon Fargetton writes about the power of the imagination, specifically focusing on the concept of an imaginary friend. Through the course of a day at the beach, the narrator shares the strength of the bond with his friend, who accompanies him on all his adventures, both imaginary and real.

On each page, a full-page illustration that's a true painting, allowing the reader to get lost in it, thanks to the brushes of the talented Lili Wood. The images are both soft and powerful, where the beach and the sea are characters in their own right.

Manon Fargetton

Manon Fargetton published her first novel at the age of 18, followed by about twenty books and numerous literary awards. Now a full-time novelist, she spent ten years working as a lighting manager in theatre. "Le Très Grand Câlin" was her first album.

Lili Wood

Lili Wood, whose real name is Aurélie Bois, is passionate about painting the sky, the sea, the moors, and the nature around her, with which she shares an intuitive and deep connection.

As the seasons change and with her daily walks, her color palette evolves, always surreal, reinventing what she observes. Each drawing is an invitation to dream and wander. Lili Wood collaborates with many publishers, creating novel covers and illustrations for the press.

Since it's like that, I'm leaving!

Puisque c'est comme ça, je m'en vais!

By Mim • Illustrated by Héloïse Solt

Émile had a very bad day. And in the evening, his mom doesn't want him to paint. That's the last straw: Émile is so angry that he decides to leave home. A picture book about anger and how to defuse it.

A story about the big outbursts of anger that can overwhelm little ones. A gentle approach to help them manage their emotions. Arguing with a friend, getting scolded by the teacher, getting hurt... there are plenty of reasons to get angry every day. These are situations that fit directly into the everyday lives of every child.

A mirror book in which both child and parent will recognize themselves: the child in Émile's situation, wanting to leave home in a fit of anger; the parent, like Émile's mom, having already faced their child's anger.

Waaaargh, The Magic Word?

Waaaargh, le mot magique ?

By Mim • Illustrated by Thierry Bedouet

"Hello," "Please," "Thank you"... Nino Dino knows all the nice little words, but sometimes he forgets them. So Mom and Dad show him that politeness can be learned – and, surprise, it makes life easier for both kids and grown-ups!

Nino Dino knows all the magic words, but he tends to forget them. Often too excited or full of energy, it's not easy for him to remember to add these little words to his sentences. So yes, Nino Dino is more likely to demand than to ask politely, and to get angry rather than apologize.

But with Mom and Dad by his side, he discovers that being polite is something you can learn – and even better, that it makes others happy!

Enough sulking: Nino Dino rushes off to share this secret with Baby Dino, so he can learn to be polite too.

Soro's Secret

Le secret de Soro

By Charline Le Maguet

Why does Soro seem so sad lately? Musa, his friend, helps him share his dark secret.

Musa and Soro, two little shrews, are the best of friends. But one day, Musa can tell that something is wrong with Soro. Little by little, Musa encourages Soro to share his dark secret with him. Then, they have to tell the adults so that Soro can move on.

A story about loyalty, friendship and abuse that focuses on adults' responsibility towards children.

The difficult topic of child abuse is explored with a great deal of sensitivity, to encourage children to speak up, highlighting the support system and allies they still have around them.

Between My Two Homes

Entre mes deux maisons

By Séverine Vidal • Illustrated by Louis Thomas

A gentle and poetic story about the reality of separated parents and shared custody. This new edition of a flagship album from the Milan catalog features a new title and a newly illustrated cover by Louis Thomas.

"One week at Mom's, one week at Dad's. A week can feel long, sometimes. Seven days—almost millions of seconds! To help time pass more quickly, I stretched a thread between my two lives."

On the very current theme of shared custody, this poetic picture book gives voice to a little girl who travels each week from one home to the other. The imaginary thread she stretches between her divorced parents connects two houses, two ways of dressing, eating, doing homework... But it's also along this thread that she expresses the sadness of separation, the joy of reuniting with the one she missed, the awkwardness of adults forced to speak at the doorstep, and the wild hope for peace between her parents...

This touching and tender story portrays the life of this little tightrope walker with accuracy and without pathos. A new edition of the album that sold 4,000 copies features a refreshed cover, created by two prominent figures in children's literature: Séverine Vidal and Louis Thomas.

One Day, In The Savanna

Un jour dans la savane

By Agnès Debacker • Illustrated by Claire De Gastold

One Day in the Savanna'—that's how each of the three tales begins, featuring a lion and a crocodile, and children who are far cleverer than they are, just like in classic folktales.

One day in the savanna, a young crocodile and a slightly older, equally daring lion came across a child. She had simply forgotten to turn left at the baobab — otherwise she would never have ended up face-to-face with these two fearsome creatures. She knew escaping them would be nearly impossible... so she decided to act fast.

Tali and The Odin Monster

Tali et le monstre d'Odin

By Marie de Monsabert • Illustrated by Clémence Pollet

This is the story of Tali, a young boy whose life is turned upside down the night he is the victim of incest by his older brother, but who finds the courage to speak out.

This strong, delicate album breaks the taboo of the forbidden and the unspoken on a difficult subject that is all too often in the news, and that must be dealt with to free speech. Words are weighed up to say the unspeakable, to describe Tali's feelings, until he manages to speak and begins to rebuild his life.

Like a fairy tale, the story takes place in an undetermined time and place, so as not to stigmatize and to allow the reader to distance himself.

The author, a teacher, had her text proofread by child psychiatrist Marie-Rose Moro to ensure that she was as close as possible to the reality and feelings of the children.

Magnificent illustrations by Clémence Pollet, who uses paint to treat each image as a painting in its own right. An interpretation inspired by the characters and the surrounding nature.

Il était une fois, perché sur une falaise plongeant vers la mer, un village qui reposait tranquillement sous les étoiles. C'est là que vivait Tali, un garçon que l'on voyait sans cesse glisser sur un grand poney rouge. Au fil de ses courses, le vent avait sculpté un épi dans ses cheveux et tout le monde l'appelait Tali, le fils du vent. En réalité, il était le fils de la cheffe du village, Irénée, et de Joseph, le meilleur dresseur de chevaux de la région. Tali avait aussi un grand frère, Odin, un adolescent fort et tourmenté que tout le village admirait pour ses prouesses de nageur et la souplesse de ses acrobaties à cheval.

On voyait souvent les deux frères ensemble, le petit et le grand, le vent et la force. Odin portait Tali sur ses épaules, l'emmenait à la pêche ou lui apprenait à se tenir debout sur son poney sans tomber.

« Petit frère ! On est la meilleure équipe ! » lui disait-il toujours en soufflant sur l'épi de ses cheveux. Alors le cœur de Tali se gonflait de joie.

The Old Oak's Memories

Les souvenirs du vieux chêne

By Maxime Rovere and Frédéric Pillot

An old oak tree tells us about the magical, historical and legendary events it has witnessed in its lifetime.

Snow white takes shelter from the hunter beneath the tree, it watches the hare and the tortoise run their race. It meets a strange hermit who is later known as Saint Francis of Assissi. Through the oak tree's eyes, the author, a philosophy graduate, brings us a reflection on our contribution to the world.

The life of the Grand Chêne is illustrated in 16 masterly paintings by Frédéric Pillot

A beautiful book which evokes all that the forest and the trees represent for the men

A Tale From The West

Un conte de l'Ouest

By Kiko

A woman, a journey, encounters, in a tale of initiation and origins.

She's a woman walking alone. Soon, whether she likes it or not, animals and humans join her along the way. All different but all equal, what can they bring to each other, and how far will they go together?

Somewhere between a tale of initiation and a legend of origins, this fable set against a Western backdrop is a wonderful invitation to travel and, above all, to accept encounters and differences.

Minimalist writing that progresses relentlessly. Sumptuous images, constructed like a beautiful mechanism. A beautiful Italian-style book by a talented author-illustrator (10,000 copies sold for Qui vit où?).

A singular album that puts human beings on the same level as the smallest of animals, reminding us that we are all dependent on each other.

Rémi Courgeon

Rémi Courgeon was born in Choisy-le-Roi, Val-de-Marne. Graduated of the École Estienne, he began his career in advertising and produced illustrated reports for magazines and NGOs. He is also a painter, with several exhibitions in France and abroad. Courgeon is the author and illustrator of numerous picture books. At Éditions Milan, his works include Le Mystère Ferdinand, Passion et Patience, and Ta peau contre la mienne. His book Brindille, recommended by the French Ministry of Education, earned him the Chrétien de Troyes Prize in 2013 and The Best Illustrated Children's Books Award in 2017. His album Blancs comme neige won the Gayant Lecture Prize in 2015, and Tiens-toi droite received the Facile à lire Prize in 2020. He currently lives in Les Lilas, near Paris.

Too Many Bananas

Trop de bananes

By Rémi Courgeon

Rémi Courgeon's colorful picture book focuses on Any, a young artist, and her relationship with her grandfather, a painter in his spare time.

Any is a strong, determined heroine who succeeds in turning her passion into a profession, guided by the love and caring gaze of her grandfather, a zany and endearing character.

The story is told from the point of view of Mat, Any's passionate lover. We follow the girl's evolution through his eyes and his rhythmic words, full of admiration and humor.

Rémi Courgeon's beautifully crafted characters come to life with tenderness and humor. He tells a beautiful story of transmission and passion, featuring endearing characters.

Like Any, Rémi Courgeon drew a banana a day for a year!

The result is an exhibition mounted in Montélimar and due to tour France this year. At the same time, Rémi Courgeon will be taking part in school workshops throughout the year.

He works for the publishing and advertising industries and produces travel sketches. He is also a painter, and his work has been the subject of several exhibitions in France and abroad. He has about fifteen albums to his credit.

Wearing her horse's skin as a coat, Nuée, a young sidesaddle rider, sets out to look for the murderer, Aaron Blake. Hiding in the undergrowth, listening out for footsteps, she travels the deserts in search of the man who took her friend away. During her journey, she finds a horse and nurses it back to health, rediscovering that same bond. But she will not stop until she has found Aaron Blake. Then, finally, one day... she shoots an arrow and knocks the revolver out of her opponent's hand. She lets him live, preferring horses to humans. "No horse is cruel."

From breathtaking scenery to battle scenes, the cinematographic format plays with light and shadows. Rémi Courgeon plunges the reader into Nuée's quest, in a Western genre. His new heroine, determined and solitary, is reminiscent of Brindille and Adjoa.

Scenes reminiscent of Monument Valley, warm colors, landscape illustrations...The reader is plunged into the Western genre

As a Tree

Comme un arbre

By Rémi Courgeon

A poetic and modern picture book about our need to get closer to nature

Linette has a school assignment: to write about her spirit animal. But she can't think of anything to write about. Linette would rather be a tree. She identifies more with trees, especially lindens. The parallels between the girl and trees run throughout the story. Whether physically or in her way of being, Linette feels like a tree. And although she can't be the animal her teacher wants her to be, she can be the tree that brings all the student-animals in class together.

A beautiful picture book that highlights the human need to be close to nature. A female character who ignores the rules to share her own vision of the world around her.

The Office of Weights and Measures

Le bureau des poids et des mesures

By Anne-Gaëlle Balpe • Illustrated by Vincent Mahé

At the Bureau of Weights and Measures, everything is measured: time, weight... But when it comes to quantifying feelings, it's much more complicated! Can we invent machines to measure everything? New format and cover, with a reduced price.

The father of our hero is Marcel Gramme, an engineer at the Bureau of Weights and Measures. His job is to ensure that a minute lasts exactly one minute and that a gram weighs precisely one gram. One day, when his son comes home from school with a "frown" and is unable to express his anger, Marcel Gramme finds all of this very imprecise. So, father and son decide to invent instruments to measure emotions: hunger, love, sadness, anger. Their machines become a huge success, but they soon cause chaos in the city...

This story, both poetic and humorous, evokes the burlesque style of Jacques Tati. The feeling is reinforced by Vincent Mahé's colorful, very 1960s illustrations.

How Does It Grow?

Comment ça pousse?

By Anne-Sophie Baumann • Illustrated by Amélie Falière

Under the ground, high above the ground, in a tree in the sun? How do the fruits and vegetables of a child's daily life grow? A documentary book with 30 photographs to find out!

A fun cardboard book adapted to toddlers: by lifting the flap on which a fruit or vegetable is illustrated, the child discovers a photo of it in its natural environment, ready to be picked and eaten!

On the back of the flaps, a short documentary text provides simple and amusing information on the 15 fruits and 15 vegetables, and a small cabochon shows them cooked as they would be in the canteen or at home!

A new concept on the market!

Géraldine Aresteanu

Géraldine Aresteanu, born in 1976 in Iași, Romania, discovered photography at age 13, inspired by the Romanian Revolution and a photojournalism exhibition. Encouraged by her parents, she received her first camera and moved to France in 1995 for her studies. In 1999, she returned to Romania to document gold miners and later transitioned to color photography. Her project "Portraits for a Word", featuring deaf children using sign language, earned multiple awards and marked a turning point in her career. She co-founded Salez/Poivrez in 2003 and has worked independently since 2014. Her ongoing project "24 Hours" captures everyday life with empathy, blending photojournalism and portraiture to create intimate, human-centered narratives.

At the Beach

À la plage

By Géraldine Aresteanu

"My Day" is a new photo-based picture book collection that follows a child as they explore their surroundings.

Join Louise on her trip to the beach!

24 pages take the reader through every step of Louise's day at the beach: riding her bike, going on a carousel, settling under a sunshade, putting on armbands, playing by the water or with rackets, jumping in the waves... What a wonderful day!

Each picture book in the collection follows the journey of a charming and spontaneous 2-year-old child. The artistic and visually striking photographs, each with a unique character, highlight a well-defined theme. In this case, discovering seaside activities.

- A descriptive text complements what's shown in the photo. Each key word on the page is highlighted in bold and color to make it easy to identify!
- A collection closely aligned with parents' needs in supporting their child's language development, created following a qualitative survey conducted with the target audience.

Beautiful, lively photos by Géraldine Aresteanu, a talented photographer known for her deeply human portraits

The Big Questions of Kids

Les grandes questions des petits

By Sophie Furlaud and Aurélie Guillerey

From an early age, children ask existential questions that parents struggle to answer. This book offers delicately illustrated answers.

Where was I before I was born? Where does the world come from? Why are we afraid? Why am I me? So many questions that parents often don't know how to answer!

For each question, 3 humorous answers are provided on a flap. A double-page spread offers more serious answers. With very cheerful and funny drawings by Aurélie Guillerey and Thierry Manès. Philosophy is a very popular topic with children! Sophie Furlaud (Les P'tits philosophes: 50,000 copies sold) has adapted the text for the youngest readers.

First appearance in Pomme d'Api magazine (1.2 million readers a month).

My Body Is A Treasure

Mon corps est un trésor

By Florence Dutruc-Rosset • Illustrated by Thierry Manès

Your body is a treasure, and if some people don't respect it, you have the right to tell a trusted adult. Talking about it means protecting yourself!

For 3-6 year-olds, this book is a simply written with cardboard guide that will speak to everyone. Because the problem of sexual abuse affects even more children than we think, Bayard has designed this guide to fight it by raising awareness among little ones and enabling them to talk about it with adults.

We are adding this title to our catalog, which already includes "La princesse sans bouche", "Le secret de Soro", and "J'aime mon corps" (3,600 copies).

Bayard jeunesse's campaign on sexual violence against children, which included the booklet "Mon corps est un trésor" (My body is a treasure), won the Prix de la Responsabilité des Medias in June 2023 and the Prix CBNews des Medias in September 2023.

Romain Gallissot

Romain Gallissot is a schoolteacher, digital mediator, columnist, comics specialist, and children's author.

For many years, he has explored the world of childhood and adolescence, as well as the field of artistic and cultural education. All of his activities, which complement and enrich one another, make him a keen observer of the world of children's creation.

Matthias Malingré

Born in 1986 in Nancy, Matthias Malingré graduated in 2008 from the Épinail School of Fine Arts, and later in 2011 from the Strasbourg School of Decorative Arts. He works regularly for the press and children's publishing, including Astrapi, J'aime Lire, Milan, Oskar Éditeur, Revue Dada, Bonbek and others.

Screens, Not All the Time!

Les écrans, pas tout le temps !

By Romain Gallissot • Illustrated by Matthias Malingré

In my family, we use screens all the time: at the park, in the kitchen, and even to play! What a funny idea! As for me, I prefer cooking, chatting, and having fun!

My family just loves screens. They use them at the park, in the kitchen, and even to play! As for me, I prefer doing all that on my own! Managing screen time at home isn't always easy. Our solution: "Croc'écran"! An educational, playful, and guilt-free program with tools to introduce the whole family (kids AND parents) to healthy digital habits.

- What are adults playing at, with their noses glued to their screens? wonders a child—who still spends his time playing, going to the park, or cooking with his grandmother.
- For children and adults alike—and written by Romain Gallissot, schoolteacher, mediator, and children's author—here are some healthy habits to adopt, and less helpful ones to let go of, for a healthier relationship with screens.
- "Mes p'tits guides," a new collection dedicated to today's social topics. Far from giving lessons, it offers keys to understanding and supports both children and adults in their everyday lives.

My Interactive Book Of The Human Body

Mon livre animé du corps humain

Alzheimer's disease

La maladie d'Alzheimer

By Various Authors

A collection of illustrated documentaries that presents the highlights of the emotional life of children from 4 years.

A narrative thread to promote proximity, identification and complicity, short texts, soft and funny illustrations make this collection the ideal way to talk about all the subjects that touch the child closely. The abyss by fiction allows a more immediate and concrete understanding, while the documentary part gives the words that adults often miss in answering questions about children.

Stéphane Frattini

He wrote radio plays (including 'Les Maîtres du mystère' on France Inter), worked in graphic design and journalism ('Les Inrockuptibles', 'Lui'), before turning to children's publishing, which he deeply loves and respects. Author of numerous documentaries of all kinds, as well as a few illustrated albums and whimsical works, he has already published around 150 books, most of them with Éditions Milan, often translated into several languages.

Éléonore Della Malva

Eleonore Della Malva, of Italo-Burgundian origin, is a visual communication graduate from Émile-Cohl School (2005). She taught drawing and color theory at Bellecour School in Lyon (2010–2015), and works in press, publishing (Auzou, Fleurus), advertising, and video games. At Milan Presse, she illustrated titles in the "Poussin" and "Mes docs à coller" collections.

My Atlas of Europe

Mon atlas de l'Europe

By Various Authors

A "Mes docs à coller" title that offers a grand journey through Europe, and more specifically through the 27 countries of the European Union, of which France is one of the founding members.

"My Atlas of Europe": a sticker atlas to explore the European Union country by country. A fun and interactive documentary that helps children learn more about the 27 EU countries by sticking and playing... Children learn by placing stickers in the correct locations. Perfect for a first introduction to the countries of the EU, with map backgrounds that make it easy to visualize each country and what makes it unique.

- After the success of My First Little Atlas – with nearly 72,000 copies sold in the "Mes docs à coller" series – here comes My Atlas of Europe.
- A documentary featuring large, lively illustrated maps filled with pictograms that highlight the richness and uniqueness of each of the 27 EU countries.

A fun and interactive documentary packed with nearly 60 stickers, a practical format at an affordable price

Astrid Dumontet
After studying publishing in Toulouse, Astrid Dumontet learned how to "make books" at Éditions Milan. Since 2012, she has been writing documentaries, happy to create content for young readers. In the Mes p'tites questions collection, she has written titles such as: Dreams, Love and Friendship, Kings and Queens, Airplanes, Racism, Living Together, Emotions.

Vérane Cottin

Vérane Cottin is an illustrator and graphic designer. From time to time, she enjoys packing her papers, tools, and laptop into a backpack and working from the mountains or abroad. She has contributed to many projects in education, ecology, sports, and nature – across various media such as press, video, posters, and digital platforms. She also leads workshops for children in museums.

At the Theater

Au théâtre

By Astrid Dumontet • Illustrated by Vérane Cottin

Amazing – a book that unfolds! Through fun games, children discover a place of leisure for all ages: the theater. They learn how it works, who works there, and what happens during a performance.

"Mes docs à jouer" is an original collection of documentary game-books for children aged 5 and up (13 titles already published).

The concept: a book that unfolds as you read, revealing a large, richly detailed image. Each section of the image is paired with a short documentary text and one or more visual games: shadow matching, riddles, "seek and find," spot the differences...

Solutions are grouped together at the end, printed upside down in one place. A perfect book to discover a place before visiting it for the first time.

They'll get a glimpse of behind the scenes while also seeing what happens on stage. They'll understand that many people work together to make the show happen – not just the actors. A fun and informative introduction to the world of live performance and the people who bring it to life!

The Tit

La Mésange

By Stéphanie Ledu • Illustrated by Andrea Innocent

A warm welcome for Mes Docs Nature, the collection of animal and plant monographs that gets children out into the fresh air. The great tit, the first bird in the collection, is very easy to observe!

The child will discover incredible facts about the great tit: how it flies, how it takes care of its feathers, how it keeps its nest clean... A mascot guides young readers and shares their sense of wonder, with both illustrations and photographs throughout.

Stéphanie Ledu

Stéphanie Ledu studied literature. Passionate about the world of children and children's literature, she began writing for Milan's press (Wapiti, Wakou, Julie), and then turned to publishing and the documentary genre. She believes it is important (and joyful!) to "tell the world" to children, offering them reference points on various topics that relate to their experiences and interests. Through the "Mes p'tits docs" collection, she aims to guide young children in their quest for knowledge by creating simple and short texts that read like a story. Stéphanie Ledu has written over two hundred books, including a hundred "Mes p'tits docs"!

The impressionists

Les impressionnistes

By Various Authors

"The Impressionists" gets a fresh new look with a brand-new cover! Over 10,000 copies sold.

Who were the Impressionists? What did they like to paint? How did they paint? Why do we still talk about them today? With this book, very young children discover a group of painters who, for the first time, came out of their studios to paint in the open air. They were audacious, holding eight exhibitions to show their new approach to colour and light through immediate sensitivity. A revolution in the world of art! A dozen paintings, among the movement's most famous, are explained here.

- In simple language, children discover the story of Impressionism, its greatest figures (Monet, Renoir, Degas...), and take their first steps into art history by exploring 13 iconic works.
- A mascot (a drawn child, boy or girl) provides extra information or clarifies specific points—like a little expert on the artist or movement being discussed.

The Story Of A Seed

C'est l'histoire d'une graine

By Fleur Daugey • Illustrated by Flora Descamps

Can you eat a thistle flower, the fruit of a creeper or 200 flowers fused into one large fruit? Yes, and they're common: artichokes, kiwis and pineapples! A book to discover how everyday fruits and vegetables grow.

On a tree, a vine, in the ground... What stages does a seed go through to become a fruit? The stages of development allow us to take the time to learn about each plant and see it evolve before our very eyes. An accessible book with an introduction explaining the stages of growth common to all plants. At the end of the book, children can have fun growing beans themselves, thanks to an illustrated step-by-step guide.

We often don't know how the most common foods on our plates grow. A visually surprising discovery and an ode to nature that invites us to observe the passage of time.

Fleur Daugey is a well-known author who spent the early part of her career working for a number of nature conservation NGOs. With Flora Descamps on the palette, their first names predestined them to work together on this beautiful document book!

Pâquerette, chardon... Découvre la nature dans ta rue !

By Boris PRESSEQ • Illustrated by Marie-Élise Masson

84% of children live in cities—alongside more than 90 species of wild plants! A nonfiction picture book that helps young readers connect with nature right where they live.

The book is organized into ten themed walks that introduce children to the wild plants growing around them in the city—from sidewalks and walls to gardens, woods, and the seaside.

A riddle spread explores the dandelion's life cycle, and another presents a few edible wild plants.

Each theme includes a large seek-and-find scene and a zoom-in spread featuring six plants with fun, simple facts.

Throughout the book, young readers learn to recognize everyday plants and are encouraged to take action—labeling plants with chalk, watering sprouts, or spreading seeds to bring nature back into the city.

By Emmanuelle Figueras, Vincent Berthou and Alexandre Vidal

Plunge into nature thanks to the laser die-cuts in this original book with its poetic story

What goes on at night, or in the early morning, in the nature? With this elegant play on chiaroscuro, we discover the life of the inhabitants, enhanced by the poetic narration.

The delicacy of the die-cuts gives a new dimension to the theme, inviting us to discover the alveolus inside the hive, the spider weaving her web or what goes on in the savannah.

Refined illustrations, quite different from what we usually find in children's books, combining documentary precision and aesthetic qualities.

Did you know that bees show the way to a watering hole by dancing in the hive? That wild dogs vote by sneezing before hunting on the savannah? Like humans, other animals communicate.

How do animals communicate in the dark, underwater, at a distance, in an environment disturbed by humans? This richly illustrated book examines animal communication in a variety of natural environments. Animals communicate through their senses. They can even spread false information to obtain food.

Contrary to what you might think, fellow creatures of different species exchange information to help each other!

Numerous examples relate to animals that children come across in their daily lives: pets, garden insects, pigeons... An invitation to observe, guided by two child characters who accompany the reader on his or her journey.

The ethologist duo Agatha Liévin-Bazin and Charlotte Duranton deliver an in-depth, accessible text on this theme, unique on the children's market. A magnificent handsome book sublimated by the illustrations of Nicolas Galkowski.

The Puberty

La puberté

By Astrid Dumontet • Illustrated by Vincent Roché

How will my body change? Why am I growing faster than my classmates? What does it mean to have your period? 16 questions to understand puberty, which can start as early as ages 8–9.

In 16 children's questions, this title gives information about puberty: What is puberty? How will my body change? What triggers all these changes? Why do girls' breasts grow during puberty? What are testicles for? Why has Timéo's voice changed? What changes for penises and vulvas? Why does my big sister have pimples on her face? Will I get hair under my arms? Why am I growing faster than my classmates? Why don't I like showing myself naked? From when can you have babies? What does it mean to have your period? Will I lose a lot of blood during my period? What's it like to be a pre-teen? Between girls and boys, what's different about puberty?

- The different aspects of the topic are covered: growth, the role of the brain and hormones, physical and emotional changes, menstruation, reproductive role, early puberty, the emergence of modesty...
- A book to help 7–9-year-olds understand and feel reassured about major bodily and intimate changes. An ideal discussion tool for parents!

Astrid Dumontet

Astrid Dumontet chose a career in publishing. After studying editorial production in Toulouse, she learned how to 'make books' at Milan Editions. Since 2012, she has been writing non-fiction books, delighted to create content for young readers. In the 'Mes p'tites questions' collection, she has written titles such as: 'Dreams', 'Love and Friendship', 'Kings and Queens', 'Airplanes', 'Racism', 'Living Together', and 'Emotions'.

Vincent Roché

Vincent Roché is a freelance graphic designer and illustrator based in Paris. He grew up surrounded by images and pixels. Drawing his favorite heroes, editing images, cutting, sketching, rubbing, exploring, working on visuals, refining – that's what he loves to do. A graduate of a Parisian communication school, he worked for five years as an art director in a graphic design studio before deciding to go freelance full-time."

Charlotte Duranton

With degrees in anthropology, psychology, ethology, and literature, Dr. Charlotte Duranton has specialized in studying the relationships between dogs and humans. Her main focus is on the developmental support provided by psychopomp dogs in helping children aged 3 to 15 understand and explore the concept of death. Charlotte Duranton is also involved in research on children's literature and teaches French.

Nicolas Galkowski

Nicolas Galkowski is an illustrator and graphic designer based in Nantes. After several years working as an art director in a graphic studio, he decided in 2016 to dedicate himself to his passion: illustration. Since then, his creations have appeared on a wide range of media—press, exhibitions, book covers, illustrated works, and even tattoos. In his illustration work, Nicolas enjoys a minimalist approach, often limiting his palette to a small number of colors to create images with strong tonal contrasts.

Live My Life as a Bee

Vis ma vie d'abeille

By Charlotte Duranton • Illustrated by Nicolas Galkowski

Wild or domesticated, with its black-and-gold attire, the honey-providing bee is the star insect of nature documentary collections—an essential theme!

Follow the life of the worker bee, from the egg laid by the queen to the forager in the meadow. See how she grows, feeds, communicates, defends herself... and makes honey!

- A dialogue-style story between the bee and the illustrated mascot, engaging the child and giving rhythm to the reading. Short, easy-to-understand texts.
- A layout designed for children used to screens: full-page photos, close-ups, comic strips, and captioned illustrations to enrich the information.
- This fourth title is added to the collection, which already includes The Fox, The Hedgehog, and The Oak.

Jöklar - In the Heart of the Glacier

Jöklar - Au cœur du glacier

By Benjamin Flouw • By Isabelle Autissier

Back from a scientific expedition in Iceland, Benjamin Flouw takes us on a journey to discover glaciers with his new documentary album.

Zoé is on a school trip to Iceland with her class. During an excursion, she loses sight of her group for a few hours – or maybe just a few minutes? In any case, it's enough time to meet an old Icelandic shepherd, find an elk bone – or is it a megaceros bone? – and, above all, to learn a lot about glaciers, their formation, their role in the climate, and their impact on the landscape...

A documentary that reads like a story, brought to life by the beautiful images of Benjamin Flouw. An authentic documentary report about glaciers and Iceland, this adventure places the protection of the planet at the heart of our concerns.

Mythology in Mind Maps

Mes cartes mentales pour découvrir la mythologie grecque en un coup d'œil

By Elisabeth de Lambilly • Illustrated by Gabrielle Berger & Mary Gribouille

A beautifully designed large-format book featuring 28 mind maps, 6 timelines, and an exploration of 6 major civilizations to help readers understand Greek mythology.

It presents 28 iconic characters—from the well-known to the more mysterious: ancestral figures like Gaia, Cronus, and Rhea; the Titans; the Olympian gods; and legendary heroes such as Heracles, Achilles, and Hector.

Mythical creatures and legendary places also come to life, including Cerberus, Medusa, and the Minotaur—all central to our collective imagination.

- Mind maps offer an innovative visual method—used in schools—to present a character and key ideas at a glance. This is the only children's collection applying this concept, with 5,000 copies already sold.

Girl Power!

Vive les filles !

By Séverine Clochard • Illustrated by Cécile Hudrisier and Anne Guillard

The rise of Girl Power! continues, with sales steadily increasing. With this 2026 edition, the editorial update moves forward. An edition that remains closely connected to its readers—with accuracy and respect.

Because preadolescence isn't an easy time, this guide answers all the questions girls aged 8 to 13 might have: how to make friends, where to find pocket money, how to be less shy, and more. 232 pages of expert advice, tips, quizzes, and testimonials from girls of the same age. Girl Power and self-affirmation are always front and center. With essential topics for today, such as bullying and homosexuality.

• Following the success of the 2025 edition (nearly 20,000 copies sold in just six months!), this new release returns with an all-new cover by Anne Guillard—just as eye-catching as ever, featuring Pantone colors, holographic foil, and embossing.

• Humorous illustrations support texts that combine kindness and tolerance. And a constant fight against stereotypes

We, the Preteens

Nous les préados

By Audrey Guillier and Anne Pomel

They're between 9 and 12 years old, and no longer define themselves as children, but not yet as teenagers: welcome to the world of preteens!

Based on the personal accounts of preteens, the book helps them discover their personalities, intimacy and relationships, and provides information and resources to answer their questions.

A practical guide in paperback format, 260 pages and 7 thematic chapters: me, my tastes, my body, my family, my friends, my school and the world, with testimonials, info pages, diagrams and comic strips to explain it all.

This guide for pre-teens has been entirely reviewed by a pediatrician. A subject embodied by portraits and scenes of life magnificently illustrated by Anne Pomel.

Milan already had "Vive les filles!" (16,000 copies sold in 2023) and "Nous, les garçons" (15,000 copies sold). Now it's time for "Nous, les préados", a documentary guide to accompany all (older) children in their development.

Solène Cornec

Solène Cornec was born in Morlaix in 1985. A fan of novels and feminism, she grew up immersed in the works of Jane Austen and Marguerite Duras, admiring strong female characters with independent spirits. From her Paris apartment, she works in marketing by day and writes by night. Surrounded by women with strong convictions and sharp humor, she is dedicated to giving women and their stories—starting with those of witches—the recognition they deserve, for both present and future generations.

Aline Bureau

After studying graphic design at the École Estienne, Aline Bureau attended the École des Arts Décoratifs in Paris to study engraving. She began her career in illustration working for the press (Libération, Elle, Le Monde) and advertising. In 1996, she shifted her focus to children's illustration and has since been published by Sarbacane, Tourbillon, Le Seuil, Gallimard, Rageot, Nathan, and La Martinière. She often compares her illustrations to daydreams or painted poems. She lives in Paris.

Fates of Witches - 15 Women, Free Spirits, Wounded Lives

Destins de sorcières - 15 femmes, des esprits libres, des vies meurtries

By Solène Cornec and Aline Bureau

15 stories of women accused of witchcraft between the 14th and 18th centuries, in the Western world. 15 tales of lives shattered at a time when free spirits were feared. A rereading of the past in the light of today's struggles.

From Joan of Arc to the witches of Salem, throughout the Western world: a current theme in feminist struggles.

Through true, documented stories that do justice to these free spirits, this book rehabilitates the destiny of these women in the wake of current youth successes.

These short stories, with their varied points of view and fatal outcomes, provide food for thought on 15 portraits of women. Readers can reflect on bygone eras; they sound like warnings and challenge the way we look at others.

Stop the tyranny of fashion and conformity / Decode the diktats / Become yourself

Stop à la tyrannie de la mode et du conformisme / Décrypter les diktats / Devenir soi-même

By Emmanuelle Vibert • Illustrated by DUME

A highly informative yet playful guide that explores how fashion and self-image are connected—an essential topic during adolescence.

The desire to fit into a group while also wanting to go unnoticed, the need to explore and shape one's identity, to experiment, and to build self-confidence... all of these key adolescent needs are expressed through clothing and fashion.

- A book that breaks down the stakes of fashion—highlighting the traps of conformity and the pressures at play—to help teens free themselves from them. A topic that has never before been addressed in children's and young adult publishing!

- A new title in the Stop à... collection, which addresses the everyday concerns of teenagers – a series that has already sold 15,000 copies.
- Featuring quizzes, tests, toolboxes, and big existential questions, this book offers teens plenty of prompts to think about – with the author providing insights to help them take ownership of the topic and spark discussion!

Teenagers Questions

Questions Ado

By Nathalie Szapiro-Manoukian, Sylvie Friedman, Régis Fallier and El Don Guillermo

A book for teenagers to talk about intimate issues at during puberty.

Everything changes during adolescence: the body, the mind, and relationships with others. You feel different and you ask yourself a thousand questions! All these questions are the starting point of a long and exciting quest for self, which is not always easy and which sometimes leaves parents confused as to how to help their teenager. To help them deal with these upheavals, this book deals with more than 100 themes divided into 6 sections:

- My body, my image
- My head, my character
- My family, my tribe .
- My present, my future
- My loves
- My preconceived ideas

A book co-authored by thirty teenagers, a doctor and an anthropologist.

What to Do When Everything Feels Wrong?

Comment faire quand j'ai l'impression que tout va mal ?

By Odile Amblard • Illustrated by Mikankey

Shaped by the impact of Covid, today's teenagers face a world in crisis, with growing uncertainty and fragile mental health.

This book answers their questions and offers paths to optimism to help them look toward the future with confidence.

Teenagers today face countless questions about their future and the state of the world. Increasingly affected by eco-anxiety, many struggle with mental health issues triggered by global crises, academic pressure, social media and gaming addictions, and overwhelming information overload.

This book provides guidance and essential tools to help them navigate uncertainty. Through inspiring portraits and practical solutions, it offers ways to build resilience and envision a future with hope.

More than 70 key questions are explored in two main sections:

Me, my body, and my dark thoughts

Me and a world that feels upside down

Each topic is enriched with real teen testimonies, making it easy for 12- to 16-year-olds to relate. Facts, clear definitions, and thought-provoking quotes help deepen their understanding and give them the confidence to face the challenges ahead.

Generation Teens Dictionary 2025

Génération ados le dico 2024 (12ème édition)

By Nathalie Szapiro-Manoukian • By Jeanne Siaud-Facchin

A newly enriched and updated edition of this Dico Ado, now a bookstore staple, with over 63,000 copies sold since its first edition in 2010.

An essential dictionary for navigating the middle school years! With over 200 entries listed alphabetically, this book helps teens make sense of their everyday concerns— It addresses all the questions teens ask themselves—sometimes without daring to say them out loud—with warmth and humor. Each entry includes perspectives from both teens and expert. A Fully Updated 12th Edition This new edition features eight additional entries reflecting today's teen concerns: addiction, cyberbullying, eco-anxiety, screens, endometriosis, endocrine disruptors, gender variance, and sexual violence. A must-have reference, offering support, advice, and reassurance for every teen!

- An original concept: the only dictionary co-written by teens and health experts.

This 12th edition has been entirely reviewed by today's teens and updated to reflect their daily lives and concerns.

I Lived Through the Concentration Camps

J'ai vécu les camps de concentration

By VERONIQUE GUILLAUD • By STEPHAN ZAUBITZER • By ANDRE MIGDAL • By SIMONE LAGRANGE • By CRISTINA SZENBERG

For the 80th anniversary of the liberation of the concentration camps, this new edition presents the powerful testimonies of three survivors of Nazi brutality.

Three lives, three teenage survivors of the concentration camps—and for one, the persecutions of the Warsaw Ghetto. Each has bravely shared their story of survival, recounting their suffering and resilience with the same intensity, dignity, and sense of peace.

Simone Lagrange: She was 13 years old when she was arrested in Lyon with her parents. The man who tortured her to extract information about her hidden siblings was Klaus Barbie. Deported to Auschwitz, she was the only one in her family to return.

Christine Szenberg: In 1940, she and her family were confined to the Warsaw Ghetto. Just before its destruction, she escaped with her mother and younger sister, hiding in the sewers for three months to survive.

André Migdal: At 16, he was arrested by the French police for his involvement in the Resistance. Hiding his Jewish identity, he was interned in several French camps before being deported in May 1944 to Neuengamme, Germany.

Am I addicted?

Est-ce que je suis accro ?

By Odile Amblard • Illustrated by Olivier Phan & Céleste Wallaert

Teens are both vulnerable and eager to test their limits, which can sometimes lead them toward addictive behaviors. This book answers their questions – and those of their parents.

Teens have many questions about addiction—alcohol, cannabis, social media, porn, video games, sugary foods, and more. This book explains what addiction is, the risks involved, and how to avoid harmful habits.

With over 70 Q&As, a glossary, a knowledge quiz, practical tips, and real teen testimonies, it helps 12–18-year-olds understand dependence, risk-taking, and excessive behaviors in a clear, relatable way.

Is It Good The First Time?

C'est comment la première fois?

By Various Authors

A solid illustrated guide to finding answers to the most intimate questions that (almost) all teenagers ask themselves at puberty...

Big or small, the problems that teenagers encounter are "universal" and take on a major importance in their lives...

They don't always know who to ask these questions that are nagging at them... The book proposes 80 questions that are organised by main sections:

My loves,

My sexuality

My head, my body

My life at school, my friends

My family life, my parents

Each part is made up of questions received by Phosphore magazine, which the editorial staff answered thanks to the intervention of specialists in health, puberty...

Verbatims from readers of Phosphore magazine so that adolescents can find themselves in these issues

The lively and colourful illustrations give a cheerful note to the whole

The Guide to Tomorrow's Jobs

Le guide des métiers de demain

By Sandrine Pouverreau • Illustrated by Walter Glassof

A newly updated and expanded edition (+8 pages) of this guide, which features over a hundred emerging professions and offers a comprehensive overview of the sectors that are currently hiring—or will be in the near future.

The world is changing, and so are careers. The pressure to figure out what teens will do in the future starts as early as middle school. Parents worry about their children's futures, and teens are just as anxious about having to imagine a distant future so early in life. This guide offers food for thought and explains what the jobs of tomorrow will look like.

For each of the 8 sectors, the guide highlights:

- Existing jobs that are evolving and will continue to hire
- Emerging roles that are gaining traction
- Entirely new professions that don't yet exist but are already being anticipated by recruiters

- With over 6,000 copies already sold, this guide is the perfect companion to the Career Ideas Guide.

A treasure trove of high quality, humorously illustrated information for readers aged 14 and up

Your Turn, Detective! At the Castle

A toi de jouer, détective ! Au château fort

By Pascal Prévot • Illustrated by Quentin Vijoux

A new title in the 'Your Turn, Detective!' puzzle-book series, this time set in the ever-popular world of the medieval castle.

Strange things are happening at the castle!

Tricks played on the king, precious objects stolen, tournaments sabotaged... It's up to the reader to help Lord Isogran de Palavoine solve the mysteries.

In each investigation, children gather four clues using the rotating wheels on the cover. Once the clues are set, they can piece together the events and crack the case.

This playful book combines reading and detective work through 15 funny, quirky mysteries written by Pascal Prévot. With deduction, logic, and a keen eye, young readers learn to think like real detectives.

Featuring an original interactive design and Quentin Vijoux's hilarious illustrations, this first introduction to investigative games will delight children (and parents!) from age 6.

Pascal Prévot

Pascal Prévot is a historian at heart, passionate and knowledgeable about the countless anecdotes surrounding great historical figures—and he knows how to speak to children. Humor is the hallmark of his style. He also has a vivid imagination and has written several fiction stories for Éditions Milan and Milan Presse. He regularly contributes to Bayard Jeunesse publications as well.

Aurore Damant

A graduate of Gobelins School in 2003, Aurore Damant worked as a character designer and art director for animated series in France and abroad. Since 2013, she has specialized in children's illustration. She has written and illustrated several picture books and regularly contributes to children's magazines.

Who makes a Greek statue speak? Who is hiding in a Thai temple? Who knocked out the Easter Island guide? Who sealed an Egyptian tomb?

On this journey, everything goes wrong: disappearances, thefts, tasteless jokes... Through humorously illustrated stories, the reader must identify the culprits among many colorful characters. Thanks to these investigations, children practice reading carefully and learn to sort through information.

These funny and lively stories are not just a pretext for a game—they also offer real reading pleasure. This specially crafted collection is presented here in a maxi version: each stop of the traveling family introduces new encounters and therefore new suspects. Four cards, to be slipped under the cover, allow the suspects to be changed and exonerated behind sliding panels.

Includes a clever system of sliding panels that lets players clear suspects as the investigations progress

Eugenia Mission

Mission Eugénie

By Alice Millot and Camille Ferrari

An exploration of the great mathematical discoveries through sixteen mysteries to be solved with a spinning wheel to progress in the investigation and travel through time.

A book that combines knowledge with a game of inquiry. On each double-page spread, featuring a large illustration, the reader solves a riddle linked to background information to pursue their quest, from 4000 BC to the 20th century.

A special construction with a wheel to turn on a flap (which opens on the last page). This system allows the reader to progress through the book by answering "true" or "false".

A dive into the mathematics used in everyday life: so you're no longer afraid of numbers and figures, and understand their usefulness.

Mon dossier d'enquête - Meurtre au musée

By Robin Lagofun and Chloé Blondel

A murder has taken place at the museum! It's up to the reader to solve the case. An immersive investigation based on the principles of murder parties and crime solving games.

A thriller to play and solve, offering a real gaming experience. Readers are in control of their own journey, moving from one page to the next as they investigate. It's up to them to be perceptive and intuitive! An enriched book where form serves content: numerous facsimiles are present on every page. Readers can flip through files, open pigeonholes and a computer... The book's production contributes to the playful experience.

An immersive atmosphere with visual narration: the highly realistic illustrations set the scene of the investigation like real photographs, and the facsimiles reproduce the style of police documents. A story, close to investigation games, murder parties and role-playing games, adapted for young players aged 10 and over, by the creator of the "Sous scellés" boxes and a video game illustrator. A title that fits in with the true-crime trend.
